I gotta stop
I gotta stop
blaming myself
I've had enough
I've had enough
It's bad for my health
I'm ready for it
A change is coming now, now, now

And I feel nothing, nothing, nothing
But yet I'm something, something, something
No one really gets me and
I'm just tryna find my way home, home

I think it's time for me to take off

The dark side of the moon
Floating in the blue
I never really felt any connection to you
Don't even try to fit in like everyone else do
The dark side of the moon
Far away from you
And even though it's hard to breathe I'm loving the view
Yeah I'm just gonna stay here on the dark side
Dark side
Dark side of the moon

I gotta say
I gotta say
I'm fine on my own
Don't need no one
Don't need no one
To rely on
It might sound crazy
But I'm ok being alone

And I feel nothing, nothing, nothing
Nothing, nothing, nothing
No one really gets me and I'm just tryna find my way Home
Home

I think it's time for me to take off

The dark side of the moon
Floating in the blue
I never really felt any connection to you
Don't even try to fit in like everyone else do
The dark side of the moon
Far away from you
And even though it's hard to breathe I'm loving the view
Dark side
Dark side of the moon

So what if I never come back
So what if I never come back
So what if I never come back

So what if I never come back
So what if I never come back
So what if I never come back

Never

From the dark side of the moon
Floating in the blue
Don't even try to fit in like everyone else do
Dark side
