Something happens here tonight and I will surrender, feelings flowing though the night, living together we will work it out.
I still remember you're always in my mind,
every time dancing the morning, my life is flying high.

Hold on tight for all your life and you will surrender, this hot love will be alright, working together we will bring it out.
We will remember, we're always doing fine, every time we love the light in the morning, we will be flying high.

For always together, baby forever, this will never end,
we will be happy than ever, you'll understand (you'll understand).
